When the closing game was called Hugh found himself with Tom Engle as one of his opponents. The four players were well matched, and Hugh knew that this last game would be no trifling matter. To make it still more trying he observed that the little party with which Tom had been, including the browneyed girl, had approached the court to watch the game and the result.

When the prizes were awarded Hugh Elliot received the first gentlemen's prize, a gold scarf pin in the shape of a ball and racquet, tied with the club colors. you propose?"

"You you propose?"
"Well," eatid Hugh, with a desperate attempt to defend his course. "You know how frequently the mest popular writers nowadays end their stories tragically. As I had no experience in that line, I thought I would probably come nearer right to follow their lead, having no idea of the correct ending. But, to speak of the story itself, was not the light man the hero and the dark one the willian; that is, the offending party?"
"Certainly not, The light man was only the brother of the heroine, and three was no willain as you call it, in the story. The dark man was her bettered. And as to it being the fashion for stories to end sad, I believe in love stories ending the right way."
"Oh so do I." Hugh hastened to say, "And I sincerely regret my mistake. But surely I did not do wrong to let the character Nosmo King—wasn't II?—make the concluding remarks? From the part he played throughout I judged he would be likely to do something to the point at the end," Tom Engle was the first to congratu late Hugh on his victory, which he did without the slightest appearance of dis-

Thus, just as the young men approached the ladies, he came up, and, knowing Tom well, was presented also. "Oh, did you? Well, he was the dog." changed. Minneapoils and Duluth reported receipts of only 25 cars, against 382 last week and 252 a year ago. Chicago received 27 cars, seven of which were contract. A Loverpool corn trade news cable from Rosario, Argentine, said that continued heavy rains were doing considerable damage and the market advancing with sellers scarce. This caused a cessation of selling here and started a buying demand which soon sent the May price back to $1 03%. It reacted then to $1 02%, but again advanced, getting to $1 034 shortly after 11 o'clock. Trade in May became quieter than for a time, but considerable attention.

There was a large general trade in corn. Professional and elevator interests were free sellers again. The weakness in wheat also increased the disposition to realize and during the morning the market was quite weak. Some of yesterday's big sellers reinstated their lines at the decline and their loss was recovered later. The local cash demand had a weakening influence. May ranged from 26%021c to 26%020%c, and closed %c lower at 50%020%c. The market for outs was only moderately active and erratic. The market was weak at the opening in sympathy with wheat. Liquidation started at once and prices broke sharply. The break brought in good buying and a rally followed, but renewed selling broke prices again. There was considerable 'Jong' outs offering all day. May ranged from 27c to 26%c, and closed %c lower at 26%c.

The radical utterances made in the

but there were also special causes at work in their behalf. Gossip was tife as to the probable action of the St. Paul directors on the dividend rate, the rumors all pointing to an increase. The absorption of this stock was credited to a powerful financial interest, which was said to be selling out its holdings of Sugar at the same time. London supplied St. Paul stock freely and sold other international stocks here. Rock Island responded to the action of the directors in calling the debenture and extensive bonds, thus assuring the stock the benefit of an early reduction of fixed charges. The Union Pacific, Denver & Gulf securities were strong, on rumors that the reorganization in prospect would bear easily on them.
